As an international financial centre, Hong Kong has world-class law, accounting, engineering, management, finance and investment professionals, as well as an advanced and well-developed infrastructure, financial system and an array of capital markets. With the unique advantage of the “One Country, Two Systems” and as a major offshore renminbi centre, Hong Kong is in an excellent position to participate in the “Belt and Road Initiative” (BRI). With China forging steadily ahead in implementing its initiatives and realising its vision under the BRI, there is an urgent need for the financial, banking and professional sectors in Hong Kong to rapidly tap into opportunities available under the BRI in which Hong Kong may have a unique role to play, particularly in the area of infrastructure financing.

In view of this, The Hong Kong Institute of Bankers (HKIB) and the Asia-Pacific Structured Finance Association (APSA) have jointly organised a full-day Forum-cum-Dialogue on infrastructure financing under the BRI. The Mainland’s BRI regulatory bodies and senior executives from the banking institutions and professional bodies in Hong Kong will be brought together with a view to facilitating their cooperation in regard to policies, developments, opportunities and challenges under the BRI, with a special focus on infrastructure financing which underpins the robustness of the BRI. This also serves to strengthen Hong Kong’s strategic role in the BRI, with an aim to enhancing collaboration among key stakeholders.
