This document applies if you intend to apply to Cambridge to start your studies in 2027–28.

1. Colleges collect all fees on behalf of the University.

2. In order to know which fee you will be charged, the College will look at your fee status (expressed as either "Home" or "Overseas")

   Fee status depends on nationality, UK immigration status, and residency. Further guidance is available at https://www.ukcisa.org.uk/student-advice/fees/england-fe-fee-status/, but if you are settled in the UK (most commonly as a British citizen, or by holding indefinite leave to remain) and have been resident in the UK for the last three years up until 1st September before the course starts, you are likely to have "Home" fee status. Otherwise, you are likely to have "Overseas" fee status. Please note there are a number of exceptions to the rules: you will normally need to provide further information about your education, family history, parental employment, and your recent residence to enable a decision to be made – see https://www.cambridgestudents.cam.ac.uk/fees-and-funding/fees/how-is-my-fee-status-assessed

3. If you are categorised by your College as a "Home" student, your tuition fee will be expressed as a single amount (that the University and the colleges share).

   Otherwise, your tuition fee will be expressed in your formal offer as two separate amounts, which correspond to a University fee plus a College fee. The precise fee will depend on both your course and your College, as outlined in the table below (continues overleaf).

[1] In Architecture, Design, Chemical Engineering and Biotechnology, Computer Science, Engineering, Manufacturing Engineering, Mathematics, and Natural Sciences subjects, you may continue onto an advanced undergraduate degree leading to a Masters qualification (M.Arch, M.Des; M.Eng; M.Math; M.Sci). For these subjects, the course is considered continuous with the corresponding undergraduate BA course. The corresponding annual tuition fee continues to apply.

[2] If you have been classified as a Home student, you will be charged a single tuition fee for each academic year. The University's policy is to charge the maximum fee permitted by the UK Government (the regulated fee) and to increase the fee in subsequent years of your course in line with any uplift approved by the UK Government. This reflects increases in the cost of delivering education and maintaining a high-quality student experience. The Government has indicated that fee increases will rise with forecast Retail Price Index (RPI) inflation, excluding mortgage interest payments. The University will notify you of any increase by June before the start of the academic year to which it applies. If you are dissatisfied with a proposed increase, you have the right to terminate your contract with the University.

[3] Fee rates for international students with Overseas fee status will be fixed at these rates for the duration of the course. International students need to add on the additional College fee when calculating their total fee.

Year Abroad, and incoming exchange students

a) Home students going away from Cambridge during their course are liable for 15% of the annual Home fee while they are away

b) International students going away from Cambridge during their course are liable for 50% of the annual Overseas fee while they are away

c) Students coming to Cambridge for a year (i.e. exchange students) won't be charged a direct fee in most circumstances. However, it is always best to check with the home institution

International students - College fees payable in addition to the tuition fee

Each College is a separate institution, and you must belong to both a College and the University to study at Cambridge. As College fees are set independently, they vary between Colleges. Before applying, we strongly recommend reviewing the undergraduate prospectus and College websites to help you choose the College that is right for you.

Trinity College: The fee for students who matriculate in 2027-28 will be £21,063. For all students liable to pay this fee a 30% bursary will be awarded, resulting in a net fee of £14,745. This fee to be fixed for the period these students are undergraduate members of the College.

Terms and conditions for fees fixed for the duration of the course

a) Where fees are fixed for the duration of the course, these are the fees agreed at the point of admission for the relevant course, or for part of the course as specified elsewhere.

b) Where students change their course for one or more years of their degree, and the new course is listed in a different Fee Group, for those years they will instead be charged the fee for that Group as stated for the year of commencement of their first year of the B.A. degree.

c) Students who intermit (irrespective of the period of intermission or the number of intermission periods) will remain subject to the fee or fees that were in place at the point of admission for the relevant course, except for students who intermit continuously more than six terms, who will instead be charged at the new fee rates that apply at the time of their return; any associated extension to the duration of the course will be charged at those new rates.

d) Continuing as an undergraduate student beyond the initially-agreed length of the course will be charged at the fees rates that apply at the beginning of the agreed extended period for the remainder of the course for a fixed period of three years. Further periods of extensions and fees applicable will be reviewed at that point.
